MSc in Charity Marketing, and Fundraising

This award is designed for those working at senior level in marketing and fundraising in the voluntary and community sector. It combines theoretical rigour with the application of contemporary professional best practice.

It is designed to support and further develop the core management skills and key competencies necessary to the delivery of efficient, effective and appropriate fundraising and marketing practice in the voluntary sector context. It is suitable for existing marketing and fundraising practitioners located within the voluntary sector and for those wishing to transfer relevant skills and knowledge from experience gained in other sectors.

As a student you will gain:

- A clear understanding of the strategic application of the marketing paradigm in the voluntary sector
- Practical application of key strategic marketing concepts and tools in different voluntary sector contexts
- Clear understanding of the design, implementation and evaluation of alternate fundraising strategies and techniques
- Relevant marketing/fundraising management competencies, leadership skills and analytical capabilities
- Access to a strong network and connections within the sector
- Confidence to pursue your career in the sector.

WHAT SETS THE CASS MARKETING AND FUNDRAISING COURSE APART

Future-facing: the course focuses on the rapidly evolving adoption and application of the strategic marketing paradigm as it impacts all facets of voluntary sector management. The growing instance of marketing to promote greater effectiveness in resource acquisition and resource distribution are discussed alongside the practical application of key strategic marketing concepts and planning disciplines to the voluntary sector context. The focus is on the application of a strategic marketing approach alongside effective management of brand, alternate channels and marketing communications. Within this strategic marketing focus, alternate approaches to fundraising strategy are introduced alongside the important constraints of ethical best practice and contemporary regulation as they apply to fundraising strategy. Adoption of alternate fundraising techniques are debated together with their selection and application within the context of a robust and accountable strategic framework.

Both academic and applied: the course combines the academic rigour of an internationally respected business school with a highly practical and applied approach. The course is delivered by senior academics with first-hand experience and ongoing involvement in the sector. In addition, guest lectures are delivered by senior marketing and fundraising practitioners presenting contemporary issues and exploring the real world challenges they face. The shadowing/fieldwork exercise, a key component of the course, provides students with a unique insight into the day-to-day realities in applying marketing or fundraising in the context of voluntary sector management.

A rich learning environment: the course lecturers are among the most highly regarded in the University and several have been awarded prizes for the quality of their teaching. Personal reflection and learning is encouraged through action learning sets and the coaching opportunities that are available. We place considerable emphasis on student participation and interaction. Together with the diversity of the student cohort each year, this creates a stimulating learning environment.
All students are highly motivated graduate-level people who bring a wide range of professional competencies, skills and experience from a wide range of backgrounds.

Typically, we ask for:

- a good first degree, normally a 2.1 Honours degree from a British university or an equivalent qualification from a leading overseas institution;

- and three or more years relevant experience at a senior level. In exceptional cases we will accept those without a degree, provided they have significant and relevant work experience.

Past students have come from voluntary sector organisations of all sizes, as well as foundations, business and the public sector. Past students include both full and part time staff members and those operating as trustees and volunteers.

Zoe Marlow
Head Education and Business Development (UK and Ireland), Sannam S4

The Charity Marketing and Fundraising course gave me some much needed intellectual rigour and helped develop a much more analytical and reflective approach. This has been invaluable in my new job; in fact, I wouldn’t have got this job without this more strategic thinking.

Stephanie Lawless
Community Fundraising Manager, Dogs for Good

I specialise in fundraising but wanted a wider understanding of the third sector as a whole, in order to aid my development and to give me a better grounding as a senior manager in my organisation. The course was challenging but manageable when working full time, and the lecturers and guest speakers were all excellent.

Marco Greco
Fundraising Manager, Coram Fields

The course covered a fantastic breadth of topics in great detail, merging theory with practical real world solutions, and prepares students to take on the challenges currently facing the voluntary sector. Completing this course provided me with the skills, knowledge and confidence to apply for and secure a more senior role in a new organisation.
NATURE OF TEACHING PROVISION

The full MSc is taught on a part-time basis over a period of two years. Alternatively, some students wish to graduate after the first year with a Postgraduate Diploma.

It is one of the five postgraduate courses offered by Cass Business School’s Centre for Charity Effectiveness (Cass CCE).

Cass CCE inspires transformation and delivers positive change within the nonprofit sector through a mix of educational programmes, consultancy services and convening activities.

The first year is common to both the MSc and the PgDip and to all of the Centre’s postgraduate courses. It consists of four core modules which all students take. These core modules provide the essential underpinning of management skills for the specialist modules.

To complete the full MSc, students are required to take the Research Methods module in the second year. They may then elect to conduct six months of personal supervised research and the presentation of a 15,000 word dissertation. Alternatively, they may choose to attend the Social Enterprise module and the two taught Specialist Pathway modules of one of the other courses as a Taught Masters.

All courses are taught at Cass Business School and will require attendance one weekend each month commencing on Friday afternoon from 13.00 to 21.00 and finishing on Saturday at 17.30.

Additional attendance will be required (first year only):
- On the Induction Day (the Friday of the October weekend of the course)
- For Action Learning Set meetings (usually alternate months, on Friday morning of the teaching weekend)
- The Resource Management and Fundraising module exams.

Nonprofit Masters: Key Learning Outcomes
- A broad knowledge and understanding of nonprofit organisations, the external context within which they operate, and how they should be led and managed (integrating the different disciplines in an holistic way)
- Deep knowledge and understanding of the specialist subject areas chosen for further investigation in the specialist pathway element of the course
- Develop and challenge programme participant’s understanding and appreciation of the conceptual foundation of these fields, and of their relevance in an applied setting
- A range of cognitive, intellectual and personal/interpersonal skills and techniques to apply directly to day to day work
- The opportunity to develop deep and relevant insights into charity management from peers of different but related backgrounds (through networking, study and sharing of ideas)
- The ability to deliver direct benefits back to their organisation in the form of recommendations for improved effectiveness across all the subject areas covered.

Stephen Lee
Stephen Lee is currently Professor of Voluntary Sector Management at Cass Business School. From 2012 until the General Election in May 2015 he was also Chief Executive at CentreForum, the UK based liberal think tank.
Whilst at CentreForum he commissioned and oversaw the publication of 65 major public policy research reports. Under his leadership CentreForum was awarded Prospect Magazine Economic Think Tank of the Year in 2013.
He has been College Secretary at Henley Management College and Faculty Director Strategy and Professor of Marketing at Henley Business School where he also established and ran the Centre for Voluntary Sector Management.
During this period he established himself as a leading authority on marketing, governance and business ethics issues, and the leading European authority on charity fundraising regulation and the law and fundraising ethics.
Principal current research interests include Public Trust and Confidence in Charity Fundraising; Charity Fundraising Regulation; Ethical, Governance and Data Protection issues. A Fellow of the RSA and one of only four Honorary Fellows of the IOF, in September 2000 he received the inaugural, Professional Fundraising Lifetime Achievement Award.

Ian Bruce
Professor Ian Bruce CBE is President of Cass CCE which he founded in 1991. He started his career with Courtaulds and Unilever as a marketing manager, and has worked in the voluntary sector as Assistant Director of Age Concern England, CEO at The Volunteer Centre UK, Assistant Chief Executive of the London Borough of Hammersmith and Fulham and Director General of the Royal National Institute of Blind People (RNIB). He has founded 12 third sector organisations and has been, or is a trustee of many more. His particular interests are nonprofit strategy, marketing (services, fundraising and campaigning/lobbying) and market research and his book Charity Marketing is in its fourth edition.

James Newell
James Newell is Director of the Kingston Smith Fundraising and Management division and supports a wide range of clients with high value fundraising and strategy advice. Following a marketing role in the automotive sector, James moved into the charity sector where he has gained a breadth of fundraising experience over the last nine years. James holds a Masters from Cass Business School in Grantmaking, Philanthropy and Social Investment and the ICAEW’s Diploma in Charity Accounting. Recently, James was featured in Charity Finance Magazine’s ‘25 under 35’ rising stars in the charity advisory field.

Justin Davis-Smith
Dr. Justin Davis-Smith is a Senior Research Fellow at the Centre for Charity Effectiveness, Cass Business School. He was previously Chief Executive of Volunteering England, Director of the Institute for Volunteering Research and Executive Director of Volunteering at NCVO. He has over 20 years researching and leading in the volunteering movement and has advised the UK Government and the United Nations on the development of volunteering policy.
Core Faculty

The faculty represents a combination of leading academics and practitioners.

From 1999 to 2004 he was Director of Operations of the New Opportunities Fund.

Professor John Hailey is a Senior Teaching Fellow at Cass Business School and the academic leader on the MSc NGO Management. He is also an independent consultant. Formerly, he was Professor of International Management and Deputy Director of Oxford Brookes University Business School, Director of the International Development Centre at Cranfield School of Management, and a Research Fellow at the East West Center in Hawaii. He was also one of the founders of the Oxford-based International NGO Training and Research Centre (INTRAC), and was the first Director of INTRAC’s Praxis Programme which was established to inform the development of new approaches to capacity building and managing change.

Professor Andrew Hind is a Visiting Professor in Charity Governance and Finance. He is the joint Module Leader for Resource Management and Voluntary Sector Financial Management with Professor Paul Palmer. He was previously the Chief Executive of the Charity Commission and is formerly Editor of the Charity Finance Magazine.

Professor Paul Palmer is the Associate Dean for Ethics, Sustainability and Community Engagement at Cass Business School as well as the Centre’s Course Director for the Charity Masters programmes. As the author of several books on charity finance and governance, he also contributes to NCVO’s web-based helpline and is a member of the Charity Commission’s SORP committee. Previously he worked in senior positions in the nonprofit sector.

Atul Patel is a Senior Teaching Fellow and the Academic Leader on the MSc Voluntary Sector Management. Qualified in social work, he has spent more than 15 years working in the nonprofit and statutory sectors. His particular interests are in management development, strategy development, diversity development, assessment of complex staffing situations and advising trustees.
Course fees

The fees for the programme are:
Year 1 (Postgraduate Diploma): £6,120
Year 2 (MSc Conversion): £3,570

First year fees can be paid in two instalments. The first must be paid in order to complete registration. Students pay the second instalment at the end of January. If sponsored, the sponsoring charity will be invoiced around the start date of the course. Sponsoring Charities can by request pay the second instalment in the first week in April 2019 on receipt of the invoice. Any deposit paid to secure your place will be deducted from the first instalment.

For those converting the diploma to MSc the fee of £3,570 is payable as a single payment in the second year.

For any further enquiries, please contact the Charity Programmes Office charityapps@city.ac.uk

Application

Apply for the course by completing the online application form, using the Apply Now button on the following page:
www.cass.city.ac.uk/study/masters/courses/charity-marketing-and-fundraising

Please attach a current CV and a personal statement to your application to show the breadth and relevance of your experience which it may not be possible to detail on the online form.

Please provide details for one academic and one professional reference or two professional references, depending on which is more relevant to your background in the past 3 - 5 years.

In order to participate fully in the collaborative learning process, all students who have not previously studied in English must sit an IELTS exam. The required IELTS level is an average of 7.0 with a minimum of 6.5 in writing.

If you are not a native English speaker but have been studying in the UK for the last three years it is unlikely you will need to take the test. Please submit a copy of your most recent English language test/qualification along with your application and a decision will be made by the Admissions Panel.
